Full-text access to many literary periodicals (such as The New Yorker) is available via Literature Resource Center. In order to browse issues of these periodicals or search for a particular topic in one of them, follow the steps below.

1. Access Literature Resource Center
  - Start at the Library's Homepage (<http://www.sulross.edu/library/>)
  - Under "Research Resources," click "Find Articles in Research Databases."
  - Choose "I-L"
  - Click "Literature Resource Center."

2. Find a specific periodical (example: The New Yorker)
  - Once you have accessed Literature Resource center, click "Advanced Search" in the blue menu bar at the top of the screen.
  - From the drop down menu, choose "Publication Title (pu)*."
  - On the far right hand side click "Browse."
  - In the search box, type the name of the periodical (example: "New Yorker") and click "Find."
  - Select the periodical title (example: The New Yorker) by checking the box to the left of the title.
  - The periodical title (example: The New Yorker) will now appear in a box on the right of the screen. Click "Submit" at the bottom of this box.
  - The search box should now show "Publication Title (pu)* "The New Yorker."

3. Browse a specific periodical (example: The New Yorker)
  - Follow the steps in #2, "Find a specific periodical" and Click "Search"
  - On the far right-hand side of the screen drop down the "Sort by" box and choose "Publication Date (Descending.)"

4. Search a specific periodical (example: The New Yorker)
  - Follow the steps in #2, "Find a specific periodical"
  - In the second drop down box, choose "Keyword (ke)."
  - Type in your topic in the right-hand box and click "Search."
