How to Access

- Student/faculty log in to Blackboard
- Click “Organizations”
- Select “tutor.com”

The screenshot shows the Tutor.com interface for SRSU Students. At the top, there's a navigation bar with "Content", "Calendar", "Announcements", "Discussions", "Gradebook", "Analytics", and "Groups". Below this is a large banner for "tutor.com" with the tagline "A Service of The Princeton Review" and a list of features: "24/7 Free Online Tutoring Support", "Tutoring in over 250 subjects", "Support for ESL and ELL Students", and "Early Alerts and Course Intergration for faculty". On the left, the "Organization Faculty" section lists Anthony Quintana and Estella Vega as organization leaders. Below that is the "Details & Actions" section with links for "Roster", "Organization Description", and "Progress Tracking". On the right, the "Organization Content" section lists "Tutor.com SRSU" and "Tutor.com: Getting Started". A red arrow points to the "Tutor.com SRSU" item.

[00:25:00] Harold G (Tutor): you have to work it out, yes.
 [00:25:23] Guest: oh ok. so then the answer would be about 42016.8 cm<sup>3</sup>?
 [00:25:39] Harold G (Tutor): how much do you get?
 [00:25:49] Harold G (Tutor): CORRECT!!! YOU GOT IT RIGHT!!!
 [00:26:02] Harold G (Tutor): what about significant figures?
 [00:25:56] Guest: 4.20x10<sup>-4</sup> cm<sup>3</sup>?
 [00:26:42] Harold G (Tutor): good!!!
 [00:27:23] Harold G (Tutor): if you want more information about density you can visit this website
 [00:27:29] Guest: yes, I think so, so in short, you have to place what you need to find in the beginning of the equation and multiply it by the part that you are given and the way that you have to cancel out the unit of measure
 [00:27:41] Harold G (Tutor): [URL = <http://www.elmhurst.edu/~chem/ychembook/120Adensity.html>]
 [00:27:45] Guest: and then work with the numbers that you have left!
 [00:28:14] Harold G (Tutor): correct! you now know the whole process!!!
 [00:28:28] Harold G (Tutor): Thanks for using Tutor.com. Please fill out the survey as you leave so we can learn how we can better help you in the future!
 [00:28:24] Guest: thank you very much!!
 [00:28:47] Harold G (Tutor): you're welcome.
 [00:28:55] Harold G (Tutor): come back if you have any other doubt
 [00:28:56] Harold G (Tutor): bye
 [00:29:03] Guest: alright, bye!

density =  $\frac{\text{mass}}{\text{volume}}$        $1g = 1000mg$

$70g \cdot \frac{1000mg}{1g} \cdot \frac{1cm^3}{1000cm^3} = 70000cm^3$

1) Thesis Statement: Clear and focused thesis

Not Applicable	Beginning	Developing	Accomplished	Exemplary
A thesis is not necessary for this submission.	The thesis does not appear to be relevant, is not clearly defined, or lacks focus.	The thesis statement is present and clear. The focal point is not consistently maintained throughout the paper.	The thesis states the position, premise, or hypothesis, and is the focal point of the paper for the most part.	The thesis clearly and concisely states the position, premise, or hypothesis and is consistently the focal point throughout the paper.

Thesis statement target feedback:
 Pretty good job on your thesis statement. I can tell what your overall message/theme is of the writing, but you may want to consider revising your thesis statement a bit to improve the sentence structure, fluency, and clarity. I gave a suggestion in the word document.

Welcome to Tutor.com! It was a pleasure to read the beginnings of your essay on whether or not outside influences should contact uncontacted tribes. You had not completed the entirety of your essay, but rather submitted an introduction and one body paragraph, which I was able to review for you. When you are all done, submit again for a more complete and comprehensive look. Let's take a look at your thesis statement together now, and talk about how you can improve it moving forward!

Here is your thesis statement currently: "These tribes could be in danger or in need of aid. Americans should explore uncontacted tribes to help them because it is our responsibility as humanity and it is best to contact them in a civil manner."

Now that we've reviewed that, let's take a moment to talk about the elements and structure of a strong thesis statement, and then apply it to yours above.

A thesis statement has several parts. First, it establishes the main argument of the essay and the position of the author. For example: Social media has a negative effect on teenagers' self-esteem...

Then, you want to include your main supporting reasons. For example: Social media has a negative effect on teenagers' self-esteem as evidenced by increased eating disorders, higher suicide rates, and higher rates of depression.

Notice how I include both my argument and my supporting details for a strong thesis that also provides a road-map for the rest of the essay!

In your introduction, you mentioned one supporting reason: that the tribes may be in need of aid. However, this was not included as part of the thesis statement, which would be helpful. Try placing this in your thesis statement for a more straightforward and all-encompassing thesis. Next, try including two other supporting reasons for a well-rounded essay. What are two other ways you are
